

Who This Guide Is For

Whether you're planning years in advance or preparing for an upcoming school year, this guide helps Canadians understand their education funding options.

Parents

Plan ahead for your children's education with strategies covering RESPs, scholarships, grants, tax considerations, and long-term funding plans.

Grandparents

Learn how to support your grandchildren's education in the most effective and tax-conscious way.

High School & Post-Secondary Students

Discover scholarships, bursaries, grants, loans, employment-based funding, and other ways to reduce education costs.

Adults Returning to School

Find funding options for career changes, lifelong learning, professional recertification, veterans, newcomers to Canada, and mature students.

People with Disabilities & Indigenous Students

Explore funding sources specifically available to help remove barriers to higher education.

Financial Professionals & Educators

A valuable reference for financial planners, accountants, advisors, educators, guidance counsellors, government staff, and others helping Canadians plan for post-secondary education.

